Dear Parents and Carers,

Attendance
Regular punctual attendance at school is vital for students to maximise their potential. In NSW all children between the ages of six and below the minimum school leaving age of seventeen are legally required to attend school.

We ask that students who arrive late to school be accompanied by a parent/carer who can sign the student in at the front office.

Attendance at Gunnedah South is usually quite high, over 90% attendance rate and this helps to ensure the success of our students academically and socially.

The Home School Liaison Officer visits our school regularly and conducts roll checks. This provides lists of students whose attendance is less than 85%.

I have included, further in the newsletter a fact sheet regarding attendance —please take the time to read.

Reading Challenge
The NSW Premier’s Reading Challenge Preview app is a great way for students to find new books and track their progress in the challenge. It’s free to download.

This is a lovely letter received from Tom Lyne’s Nana.

Congratulations to Mr. Finlay and Mr. Humphries the time and dedication they have invested to execute the Beef Cattle Project. Special thanks for creating this experience for all the children - it is a life skills experience.

Thank you from Tom’s Nanna.

Up the Back with Lucky and Tucker

New Journalists

Your keen eyesight and inferential comprehension skills may have, through the eponymous heading above, led you to conclude that Leigh and Virginia have departed the bucolic splendour that is Gunnedah South. If your powers of deduction led you in that direction then you are right. As is the lot of the fairer gender, Leigh and Virginia have put their careers on hold whilst they prepare for upcoming motherhood.

Meanwhile, they have handed over the reins to we newcomers, Lucky and Tucker. We will, with every thread of our bovine intellect endeavour to uphold the journalist integrity displayed by our forebears, reporting with impartiality and honesty.

Two Important Birthdays

November fourteen is a red letter day, the birthday of two luminaries, Mr Todd Jeffery and Mr Oscar Claude Monet. Happy birthday to those two gentlemen.

Irresistible Nil Return Agistment Arrangements for Local Landholders

We now have four kind offers to agist an animal or few, to raise money for the agricultural programs that we are trying to provide for the students of our school. Thank you agistees.

Maths and the Farm

A farmer was chatting with his sheepdog when the topic turned to who was the smarter. After some inconclusive evidence on both sides, the farmer thought that he might best prosecute his case by challenging the dog to perform a mathematical feat. “Dog, go and count those sheep.”

The dog raced off with the alacrity and confidence of one who was in control. The farmer waited, smug in the knowledge that he was going to prove his intellectual prowess, smug with the confidence that ignorance brings.

The dog returned. “How many sheep were there Dog?”

“You idiot, Dog, I only bought thirty eight.”

Yeah but I rounded them up.”

Vocabulary

Mr Humphries was asked by a student this week what egotesticle means. It doesn’t seem to be in the dictionary so if anyone could shine a light on that hitherto unknown piece of vocabulary, please let him know.

Cheap pun beckons but we can’t.

Girl Power

For those feminists out there - we’re talking to you Leigh and Virginia - go to You Tube and see the “Misogyny Speech” sung to that Gloria Gaynor anthem, “I Will Survive”. The Speech is accompanied by that orchestra in an instrument, the ukulele and is sung with verve, gusto and some humour.

Regards,

Lucky and Tucker.
All the boys and girls in 2E had a fun and exciting time on their Zoo Snooze. Thank you to Mrs Sheedy, Mrs Cohen, Mr Woodhead and Mr Robertson for coming along with us.
For our last kitchen cook-off before the big grand final, it did not disappoint. Last night was yet another suspenseful and exciting night in the kitchen. Our kitchen was full of eager participants and their family spectators. The competition was fierce and the standards were as high as ever. Once again, the recipe was beef chow mein. The experience showed and the judges had the hard task of critiquing their dishes.

Unfortunately there could only be one winning team. That winning duo was…

Elsie Hunt and her mum Carolyn! What a great team. Congratulations!

Well done to all of our cook-off competitors, Ashley White and Adam McGuirk, Sara Baker and Sue West, Maddie and Brian Coombs and Asyiah Garrett and Connor Phillips. Great work!

The following teams are through to the grand final-

- Nautica Eather and Anaya Boal,
- Tneesha and Roxanne Milne,
- Lucy and Isaac Merlehan,
- Ashleigh Mills and Laura Ewington,
- Jordan Winsor and Blair Beasley,
- Elsie and Carolyn Hunt.

Stay tuned for the date!

Regular School Attendance
Information for parents and carers

All children have a right to an education. Only by regular school attendance can children make the most of educational opportunities, leading to greater social and economic outcomes.

Schools play a vital role in the social and emotional development of children. Regular attendance enables students to develop a sense of belonging to a peer group and building important coping and friendship skills. Confident children are less likely to engage in anti-social behaviour.

If students miss out on the basics skills in the early years of school, they may experience learning problems in later years. Ultimately, unsatisfactory attendance at school may affect the awarding of the School Certificate.

Schools, in partnership with parents, are responsible for promoting the regular attendance of students. While parents are legally responsible for the regular attendance of their children, school staff, as a part of their duty of care, monitor part or whole day absences. Parents and school have specific responsibilities concerning children’s attendance at school.

Responsibilities of the principal

Principals are legally responsible for maintaining accurate records of student attendance. When reasons for absences are provided to the school by parents, principals are accountable for their decision to record a student’s absence as justified. Principals may decline to accept as satisfactory an explanation for an absence and will record that absence as unjustified.

Principals may request medical certificates or other documentation when absences explained as being due to illness are frequent or prolonged.

Responsibilities of parents

The Education Act 1990 requires that parents (including carers) ensure that children of compulsory school age are enrolled at and regularly attend school or are registered with the Office of the Board of Studies NSW for home schooling. The New South Wales Department of Education and Training may take legal action against parents and carers who do not send their children to school without a valid reason.

What is a justified reason for being absent from school?

Justified reasons for absences may include if the student:

- has an unavoidable medical or dental appointment (preferably, these should be made after school or during holidays)
- is required to attend a recognised religious holiday
- is required to attend an exceptional or urgent family circumstance (such as attending a funeral)
- is sick, or has an infectious disease.
Head lice infestations can be a common occurrence, particularly in primary schools. Parents should check their child’s hair regularly for head lice and undertake treatment where eggs or lice are identified. Information on how schools can support parents to manage and prevent the spread of head lice can be accessed from the student health section of the Department’s website at http://www.schools.nsw.edu.au/studentsupport/studenthealthconditions/headlice/index.php. Advice from NSW Health indicates that there is no need for students to be sent home or excluded from school because of head lice. Head lice, is not a justified reason for prolonged absences from school.

Absences for reasons such as some of the following may not be justified.

- Shopping
- Sleeping in
- Working around the house
- Minding younger siblings and other children
- Minor family events such as birthdays
- Hair cuts.

It is important to realise that parents (including carers) may be prosecuted if children have recurring unjustified absences from school.

Keeping the school informed

If your child has to be absent from school, it is important to tell the school and provide a reason for the absence. To explain an absence parents and carers may:

- send a note, fax or email to the school
- telephone the school, or
- visit the school.

Whenever possible, parents and carers are encouraged to provide an explanation for absences before the absences occur.

The principal of the school has the right to question parents’ requests for their child to be absent from school, or an explanation given for a child’s absence from school.

Holidays

Parents and carers are encouraged to not to withdraw their children from school for family holidays. Occasionally it may be necessary for students to accompany their parents on family holidays during school term. Parents should discuss these absences with the principal and may be requested to apply to the principal for a Certificate of Exemption from attendance at school to ensure these absences are not permanently recorded as unjustified.

When considering applications for Certificates of Exemption, principals may consider a variety of factors such as compassionate reasons. For example, family reunions, the educational merits of the holiday and agreement for the student to complete assignments while on holiday. In some cases application for Distance Education may be more appropriate than seeking an exemption from school attendance.

Arrival on time

Arriving at school and class on time:

- ensures that students don’t miss out on the important learning activities scheduled early in the day when the students are most alert
- helps students learn the importance of punctuality and routine
- gives students time to greet their friends before class and therefore,

Need help?

If you are having difficulty getting your child to attend school regularly, you might like to talk to the school principal, the school counsellor or, in primary school the assistant principal and in secondary school, your child’s year adviser.

Home school liaison officers can offer support with attendance at school. Some school areas also have Aboriginal student liaison officers who support the attendance of Aboriginal students.

Telephone your local Department of Education and Training regional office and speak to the student welfare consultant if you would like further support. A list of regional office telephone numbers can be accessed at the web site address: www.det.nsw.edu.au/contactus/index.htm or by telephoning 131 536.

- reduces the opportunity for classroom disruption.

Lateness is recorded as partial absence and must be explained by parents or carers in the same way as other forms of absence.

Must my child attend all activities, including sport?

YES. Sport and other physical activities help the healthy physical and mental development of children. Sports and sports carnivals are normal school activities and students must attend.
